

Stargate Search of the Knight: Dream

by David Michael, info@glentivar.org

Search in the Void

In the early morning of 1 April 2014, I woke up suddenly with a 'bang' and smelled a 'burning metal' stench just after I returned back after a Remote Viewing excursion. I made sure I was awake to the world and smelled again – yes the smell was real. This smell phenomenon seemed to be the result of breaking through the veil of the future veil if you are more than just ethereal - a kind of physical/spiritual state that is both 3rd and 4th dimensional. The fact I could smell it when awake suggests it was far more than a dream and more than ethereal or spiritual.

In the dream-vision prior to the 'bang' a group of 3-4 people including myself were in search of an Arthurian knight that had been lost into the void of pre-creation where time did not exist. This may sound too fantastic but this is the best way I can explain this event. My sense this knight was exiled in the void of time and space by the dark side. I did not know who we were seeking.

The Context

The day before I was doing research on Avalon and Calalus and realized it was a kingdom founded in America as early as 134 AD and certainly before 500 AD. King Arthur was known as being a King over this early kingdom in America then named Avalon in circa 500 AD having died in about 549 AD. Later in history, a Roman Hebrew rule occurred perhaps from the Davidic line of Septimania by 750 AD until its final disappearance in the 12th century and called Calalus. It is the Tuscan artifacts that affirm the existence of this Kingdom between the 8th to 12th centuries. It is the 3rd Kingdom (< 550 AD) in the CE era that was considered the Golden age of this Hebrew Kingdom in America under the rule of King Arthur.

It should be noted from scientific research that a massive asteroid passed earth in circa 540 AD creating tsunamis and causing a massive dust cloud covering the whole earth resulting in a subsequent short term ice age destroying crops and much more. It was in this era that the end of the 1st Calalus Kingdom called Avalon occurred coinciding with the time of death of King Arthur. This natural disaster date of 540 AD has been verified by the observation of very close tree rings in America, Britain, Europe and elsewhere.

In 1014, again an asteroid passed earth causing another set of tsunamis and coincided with the end of the 2nd Calalus Kingdom. Is this a coincidence or evidence of a war of the gods and alien technological interventions?

Rescuing the Knight

To try to rescue this knight of Arthur, we had to use future technology and then go back from the future to stand at the threshold of the beginning of time as a reference point and from this point reach back into the no-time void by millisecond increments to try to rescue this soul like blindly throwing out a fishing net in the dark. We got a bunch of souls in this process but did not find the knight we were seeking. I had to ask myself, "Who was the knight we were seeking?" "When and how did he become lost or imprisoned in the no-time void?" "What is his importance to the future?"

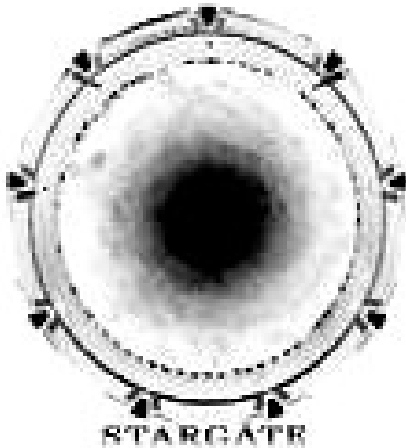

Under King Arthur, there were at least 150 knights associated with the Round Table. Of the 150, there was likely 12 princes among them who each represented symbolically each of the 12 tribes of Israel. Arthur was the continuation of the royal Davidic line and thus each tribe had to be represented in this line up. Their cousins in France of the Kingdom of Septimania likely had a similar structure yet in Arthur, both royal lines were represented since the mother of Arthur came from the Septimania (Lady of the Lake) line.

Stargate Technology

The device we were using as our net was referred to as a Stargate in the dream. When ever these souls were 'caught in the net' and returned to future time, there was a flash and an explosive effect across the force field that ran across a round shaped Stargate with a lingering smell of burnt metal. They would then step from the gate into the 'vessel' we were in sometime in the future.

The controls for the Stargate seemed to be psychically controlled as I did not see any mechanical controls aboard this vessel. The vessel may well have been a flying ship of some kind but I only saw the inside of a room which was very mechanical and not more than 30' across and seemed round in structure. I believe we were on a UFO conducting this search with the Stargate aboard.

As I reflected on this experience when reconnected with the natural world, I realized the relevance of this experience was very important. First it validated the existence of Stargates. It showed time and space as having a border and also provided evidence for the limitation or fence for Remote Viewers who can only function where time and space exists in a measurable time-space continuum.

It also suggests there are 'good' souls imprisoned outside of time and thus in the void of space-time as we know it. It follows that unless rescued, they have no hope of ever returning to the collective of souls.

My impression is this no-time void is a taste of the final hell where a soul will be left to drift all alone forever alone existing in the void of time. Such a soul will never be felt or known by another or will they sense the presence of another. They would be lost forever with only their remorseful memories to reflect upon.