

Aztec Attack: Dream-Vision

by David Michael, info@glentivar.org

Curse of Bluefeather

During the day preceding and in the night I was under an attack of demons of fear sent by one who calls himself to be Aztec Bluefeather. The day prior, I sent him a text clarifying who I am in seeking to protect another from his evil intentions. In a dream in the early morning of the 11th of January 2016, I was met by 5 men in black suits who chased me since the day prior.

At an Airport

In the dream, I found myself at an airport to the south (Central America??) and I was seeking to board. The luggage system was a trap door and one had two choices for sending luggage and for boarding. One went under a cross beam and the other went over a dividing cross beam. I choose the above the beam access and then found myself on a small jet plane with only two passenger seats and these were facing each other.

The seats were set up as a setting for an encounter for two people. I boarded and sat down. Champagne was there at the seats having just been poured. Then a beautiful blond woman boarded who was assigned to confront me and sat down directly across from me inches away in this strange seating arrangement. She was there as a spiritual entity to represent the interests of this Aztec priest and discover more about me.

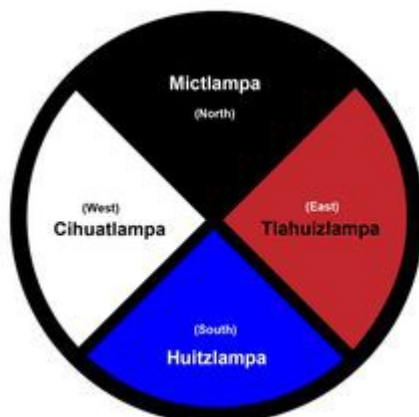

Cornered in the Desert

The dream then changed to land where I was entering a house that seemed to be my place of residence in the desert. I again saw the 5 men following behind me who I knew were assassins with guns drawn. However, when they cornered me in the house, one of the men gave me a 17th century short shotgun that had a self loading powder and shot system and said he wanted a fair fight. Since the old shotgun took about 3-5 seconds to load a round whereas the 5 men had semiautomatic pistols, the fight was never intended to be fair.

Shooting the Leader

I played with the gun and finally figured out how to load it with a lever. I showed the 5 men how it worked and loaded one round and shot into the air as a practice shot. They did not seem to be concerned. I then loaded again, aimed and shot at the leader of the 5 while the others made no attempt to stop or shoot me. This I found very strange as if none of the men wanted to be responsible for my death yet were assigned to this duty against their wills. The shot did not go off but only the click of the hammer. Suddenly a neon sign lit up on the wall and showed some delay bars of light and then posted the words "BOOM!"

With this, the lead assassin fell into a tormenting fear and could not be consoled by his friends. I did not need to shoot him...or any of them ... just needed to let him know he was as good as dead in this encounter.

Awakening

As I was awakening, I realized this was a dream that portrayed an encounter with 5 evil spirits in alliance with this Aztec priest to curse me to fear and to then disable me spiritually. The woman was sent to find out my weaknesses.

I began to pray in the Spirit to force this cloud of fear from me and back to its origin.

Curse Turned Back

I then knew the 5 who had been sent to destroy my faith returned to their origin with the one who challenged me still tormented in total fear. This fear was a fear of the final judgment in the last days. I also realized the Aztec and the NWO “Men in Black” in this dream encounter are in an alliance. The curse that was intended for me was turned back to them. The curse that was sent by the spiritual sight and the spiritual rain (it snowed in Tombstone last night) this Aztec called “blue eyes, blue rain” was returned to them ineffective.

Five Priests the Aztec

The reason for sending 5 evil spirits is in parallel with the number of 5 priests who in the Aztec religion would together perform human sacrifice upon the pyramid temples in Central America.

Then five priests, known as the Tlenamacac, performed the sacrifice usually at the top of a pyramid. The victim would be laid upon the table, held down and then have his heart cut out.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Aztec_religion

This Aztec religion is associated with the winds as implied with the Aztec priest having blue sight and power over the blue rains of Quetzalcoatl. The color of the vestments of the Melchizedek priests of YHWH is also blue and in my experience, the 4 winds are an army in this fight against evil. The fact is the winds of this Aztec are subordinate to the winds of YHWH who are commanded by Michael the Archangel. Thus... these five evil spirits except one did not want to bring themselves into a conflict with their spiritual superiors - Michael. The one who did foolishly venture to attack was left in tormenting fear in this encounter.

Update

On the evening of the 26th of January 2016 at around 9:00 pm, I was again led to pray against this evil force that is seeking to take hold in the region of Tombstone, Arizona. There are many curses brought against the land in this valley first from the Toltecs, then the Aztecs in cannibalism and human sacrifice, then the Apache Chief Cochise made a curse of continued division among its inhabitants – especially against the white men. These layers of curses continued into the late 19th century as most evident in the early years of Tombstone where many a man was shot and buried shallow on Boot Hill. If you are in town today, you will witness the community remains divided.

On this night, I was led to pray for the divine creation of a spiritual tornado to encompass Bluefeather to cause his evil powers to be driven back to him and contained around him by the Winds (angels) of YHWH. This action would greatly inhibit evil from being sent out by Bluefeather to do destruction upon others. I was then led to pray that these evil spirits once contained would become confused and afraid and then start fighting against each other to disable any future demonic activity from this man. His NWO allies were smarter in that 4 of the 5 sent would not attack for fear of judgment against them “before their time” when the final judgment at the end of days would occur.

Same God

The Olmec culture/people were founded by the Egyptians. The Olmec gave rise to the Mayan culture which then give rise to the Toltec culture which spawned the late Inca and Aztec cultures. We can trace the spiritual dark forces among he Aztecs back to Egypt. The god Ra of the Egyptians is known as Quetzalcoatl to the Aztecs – the feathered serpent sun god or dragon god. The Anasazi were associated with the later remains of the Toltecs.

These civilizations are all really connected to the core Egyptian culture that went as far north as S. Colorado. Mostly a pyramid building sea faring people as they demonstrated in the Gulf of Mexico. They divided and some made their way up the rivers and through the passes to Arizona. Really... both the Aztec and the men in black in this dream experience are in alliance with the god Ra who is the god of the NWO. They all historically have served the same god for thousands of years.
