

Family Conflict: Dream

by David Michael, info@glentivar.org

In the early morning of the 10th of November, I had a dream where I was in a small cabin with extended family. This included my children, ex-wife, nephews, sisters, brother and others. I climbed up a ladder into the attic of the cabin trying to get something and when up here, someone closed the hatch door on me from below. Having my arms full of stuff, I used my foot to try to open the hatch and found that it fell through onto the table below. It grazed the hand of one of my brothers and law and he was very upset. Who closed the hatch I wondered? Was this a sign of rejection of me by my family? To include even by my children who are adults now? They all were there in the same room and any one of them could objected to this unfriendly action.

I then woke up. I said to my self matter of factly, "I love them all but do I not like what they have become." I then realized I have spent years trying to appease them and find favor with them to be accepted by them and respected. I then like a thunder bolt of lightening realized, this will never happen. I then realized I must distance myself further from them due to the alliance they unknowingly have with the NWO darkness and stop trying to find favor with them.

When they need me, they will find me where ever I am. Most likely I will be in the mountains or deserts serving YHWH as a prophet for these end times. I also realized I do not like being with people in general. I find that common conversation topics are trite and self oriented. Now that I am turning 60 this month, I find that retirees are the worst in either talking of their life's achievements (or lack thereof) or their current medical conditions. They have in retirement resolved to live in the past with little vision for the future. They are useless to God in being a strong light in this current age as the NWO seeks to bring the world into hypnotic complacency and compliance.

The fact is, I would much rather be in the company of angels and other prophets. I would much rather be separate from society in the wilderness of the mountains or in the deserts. Only those who are sensitive to the leading of the Holy Spirit or are led by angels will be able to find me and hear the words of survival I might share in escaping the claws of the NWO. The rest of humanity are destined to be killed or to become pawns in the hands of the masters of the NWO government who consider themselves to be gods and the rest of human society as cattle to be used for their good pleasure.

Who will you serve? Come out from among them says the Lord of Hosts YHWH. Today is the day of salvation if you will hear it.
