

Saving of the Irish-Hebrews: Dream

by Mary Bernadette, Interpretation by David Michael, info@glentivar.org

Throne of Judgment

In the early morning of the 22nd of February 2016, I was in Ireland at the Hill of Tara known as the tomb of Jeremiah the Prophet. I was at a large rock in a large green field. The rock had an indent that could have been used to sit upon and was very large. This chair rock of stone is incorrectly called the Hags Chair by some locals but is more correctly called the Throne of Judgment of Jeremiah thought to date to 500 BC. Upon this chair that is really an altar, I found that the incense that was being burned was not correct. I felt good intentioned people just made a mistake with the choice of incense. I replaced this incense with the biblical frankincense. I did not feel I was doing it in worship. I humbly and quietly felt like I was just fixing something that was wrong... and suddenly I heard a thundering rumble and then more rumbling.

Darkness and Rumbings

The land and the sky then turned very dark and I continued to hear the rumbling grow louder and louder coming from the East behind me. I felt the words yelled out, "East...East... East...East!" I then knew a mounted army was coming from somewhere in the east riding upon horses coming toward me because I was putting holy incense upon the altar of YHWH.

I was actually surprised by the reaction after putting the correct incense on the rock. I was never afraid during this time...I simply accepted it and was not afraid, I felt very at ease and very protected and I said to myself, "Here it comes...its time!" I never thought I was going to die....I only thought "Here we go"....again...unafraid as if some destiny was no to begin in my life.

Then I turned around to try to see this great army of mounted riders and they were not yet in view. I noticed it was not as dark as I thought. In fact the darkness lifted and the sun began to shine again. I could not see the soldiers and their horses but I did realize it was the land that grew brighter as if it had come alive and lit up as I stood there watching this change in nature.

Land Being Healed

As the land grew brighter while the army was coming, I again looked to the west and I could see three rivers that seemed to come from where the sun would set. I sensed the three rivers came from one large river like the River Jordan. They then flowed as three streams to this altar rock where I had placed the holy incense of YHWH. The rivers came from different directions far apart toward the west and then gathered and puddled at my feet. The water appeared, very blue, beautiful and clear. The water just stayed there at my feet and I was really happy about that because I knew I was in protection with it. The water was flowing over my feet and it felt nice and calm.

Army Around Me

I was then suddenly alarmed knowing something was strange because the rumbling of the horses had stopped. The army was now all around me and stopped. They were being very quiet and waiting for my next move...just waiting at attention. They had already positioned themselves around me and now were just waiting. This was very unnerving but I was not afraid.

This was a deafening silence ...absolute quiet yet I was aware they were there but still could not see them. So many horses at attention and I knew they were soldiers trained and ready for battle mounted upon these steeds. I was never afraid of the horses or army at any time...only the power of the silence. But still I looked up, looking for birds or any sign of nature and then to the West as the setting sun.

I continued to look west in the direction of the source of the three streams that brought life to the land. The 3 streams were clearly coming from one large body of water that was very far away. I felt like it was the river Jordan. That's where all my focus was...where is this water was coming from I thought?

I knew this army had their job to fulfill. They had stopped in position of attention and were gathered all around me in what seemed like a protective shroud yet I still could not see them. I never thought I was going to die. I only knew I had begun this event of prophecy by setting things straight on the stone with the incense.

All I could now hear around me is silence then the quiet stepping of the hooves of thousands of battle horses prepared for the command to charge some enemy but the enemy was not me. I knew that they were now around me and I had no escape. I never felt threatened ...I never felt the need to escape. I felt fully protected.

I then woke up shouting, "Father, Father, Father, Father, Father!" as an acknowledgment that this experience came from him...a feeling of gratitude that what was prophesied, was coming true at last and humbled by his grace at allowing me to be a part of it.

Interpretation by David Michael

The need to understand this dream is paramount. To understand, we need to identify the source of this army and the source of the three rivers that bring healing to the land of Ireland.

Army of Angels

First the army is said to come from the East, East and the East as "felt" in the dream. Directly to the East of Ireland is England and Scotland. To the east of this land is the Continent of Europe and then to the east of this is the Middle East suggesting this is the origin of the armies.

The armies are massive but never is fear given off by these armies in the dream. The armies are to provide protection and like the water, surrounds in providing a protected spiritual habitation.

We also find that these armies even when present cannot be seen yet they can be heard. This suggests a spiritual army ... yes a massive angelic army who have been sent by YHWH from the east to provide protection for the events that are to unfold in Ireland beginning around the Throne of Judgment also known as an altar to YHWH at Tara. We know that this army of warrior angels who has been assigned as the protectors of Israel are led by Michael the Archangel.

Irish Hebrews

Ireland has the highest density of the true Israelites with over 5 migrations from Israel beginning during the time of Solomon in circa 1000 BC. The majority of the Jews in Israel today are not of the blood line of Jacob (Israel) but are Khazar Jews who were gentile converts mostly of Turkish origin circa the 9th century in Eastern Europe.

The most notable migration of true Israel to Ireland was in circa 500 BC as Israel was under siege by Babylon with Jeremiah escaping with the daughters king King Zedekiah as the remaining royal line of King David. Jeremiah took one of these daughters Tamar and resided in Ireland where she married into the line of Kings of Ireland. The principality of Dal Riada (picture to right) represent the principality of these descendants as the royal Fisher King line and are the rightful heirs to the throne of all Celtic Britannia. This same royal line of Dal Riada birthed King Arthur in Scotland.

This royal priestly line of the seed of King David held council at Tara as the spiritual Throne of Judgment in Ireland and also in Iona as the spiritual Throne of Judgment for Scotland. In England it was Glastonbury and in Wales it was St David. Today the Irish continue to be held enslaved by the chains of the English crown where this state of enslavement, if challenged, will precipitate an aggression against the Irish-Hebrews. Thus there is the need for the angelic armies of YHWH to provide protection.

The Three Streams

There are three streams (fountains) that feed the Jordan as indicated in this dream. Many scholars have studied the meaning of the Jordan in biblical theology and most come to the conclusion that with the crossing of the Jordan into the promised land of Canaan is likened to the process of salvation. Of the three fountains or streams that feed the Jordan, the following is said about them.

The Jordan originates in the snows of Hermon, which feed its perennial fountains. Two sources are generally spoken of. (1.) From the western base of a hill on which once stood the city of Dan, the northern border-city of Israel, there gushes forth a considerable fountain called the Leddan, which is the largest fountain in Syria and the principal source of the Jordan. (2.) Beside the ruins of Banias, the ancient Caesarea Philippi and the yet more ancient Panium, is a lofty cliff of limestone, at the base of which is a fountain. This is the other source of the Jordan, and has always been regarded by the Jews as its true source. It rushes down to the plain in a foaming torrent, and joins the Leddan about 5 miles south of Dan (3.) But besides these two historical fountains there is a third, called the Hasbany, which rises in the bottom of a valley at the western base of Hermon, 12 miles north of Tell-el- Kady. It joins the main stream about a mile below. <http://www.bible-history.com/eastons/J/Jordan/>

The meaning of the Hebrew names of these three streams or fountains are significant.

1. Laddan: a witness
2. Banias: a restricted or protected habitation
3. Hasbany: from root banai... an understanding or wisdom.

These rivers/streams are the source of the Jordan (Salvation) and in the dream may represent three attributes of salvation. Possibly the three streams are saying:

“Our salvation (Jordan) comes from a witness of wisdom/understanding [of truth] that provides a protected habitation.”

We can say this salvation of crossing Jordan is a kind of work of the trinity in that there are three streams that feed the Jordan as a witness (Y'Shua) of divine wisdom (YHWH) who then provides a protected habitation (Holy Spirit). The gathering of the Irish Hebrews will also come from the west from the Americas who may also gather at Tara in Ireland. They will carry within them the nature of these three streams of salvation who is in type Y'Shua in being a witness to the world in wisdom and protection of the saving grace of Y'Shua sent into the world by YHWH with the power of the Holy Spirit.

In the dream the three streams came from the direction of the setting sun in the west. One came from the northwest, another from the southwest and the third from due west and merge into one pool in Ireland at Tara before Jeremiah's tomb. This is a reverse flow of the true River Jordan in Israel back into its streams of origin and in this context helps define the kind of divine salvation that comes to the people of faith.

In the dream, the coming of these three rivers brought healing to the land and its people. This healing began following the simple act of offering holy incense upon the altar at Tara above the tomb of Jeremiah. The offering of holy incense (biblical Frankincense) is symbolic of the offering of the prayers of the saints poured out at Tara before YHWH. It is believed it will cause a fire to burn in the hearts of the Irish to join together in corporate prayer that will cause the great awakening or revival to begin.

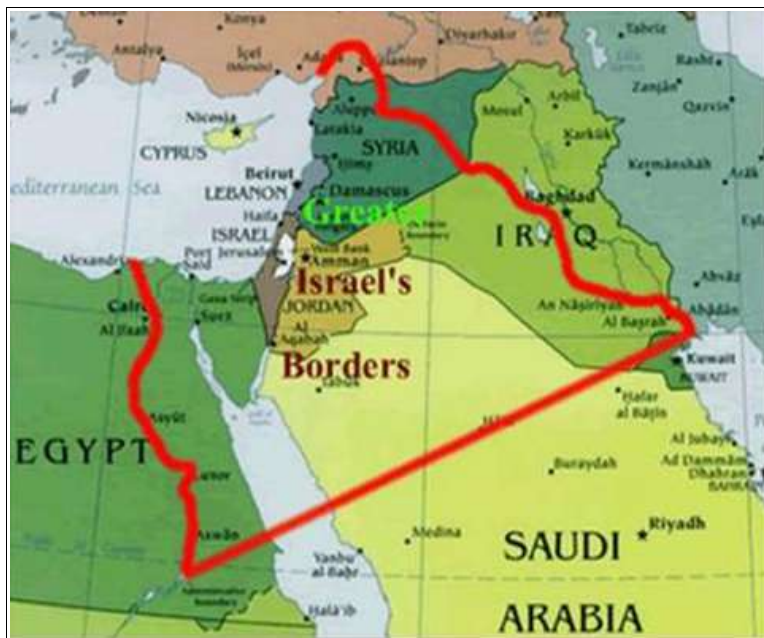

The light of YHWH is forever sealed within the people of YHWH as the Holy Spirit. I believe this dream foretells a real coming event that will cause an awakening of the seed of true Israel in discovering who they are and then they will be led to 'stream' into Ireland from the west (Americas) to the altar at Tara in embracing their destiny as true Israel.

Return to Israel

This is the beginning of the ingathering of true Israel who will come from the west as the source of salvation and meet in Ireland and then travel to Israel (via Spain??) toward the east when the time is right. As they travel, they will gather others of true Israel with thousands of Israelites marching back to Israel as the people of Judah and Ephraim (10 tribes) return to possess the land of their inheritance in fulfillment of biblical prophecy for the end times. An army of angels led by Michael the Archangel have been assigned to protect the true Israelites on this return. They will come from the East to join true Israel in Ireland and escort them back to the land of their forefathers.

Neither the Palestinians nor the modern Khazar Jew have any right to the land of Israel promised to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob (Israel). However, some of these Jewish converts will align themselves with true Israel. I have been told in a dream that 1000 Caliphs (Arab/Syrian/Persian tribes) will side with true Israel against the invasion of the Antichrist. Those who side with true Israel will be blessed. This land according to biblical history is set apart to be ruled only by genetic Israel. This Israelite army of YHWH backed by the angelic armies of YHWH will be placed in Israel by YHWH tasked to resist the invading forces of the Antichrist that will make siege upon Jerusalem in bringing the Abomination of the Desolation to Jerusalem.

This early ingathering of true Israel from the west will alarm the Antichrist regime who are now in power and they will seek to stop this migration. They may choose to deploy their Antichrist armies in Ireland to achieve the continued submission of the Irish-Hebrews to their Antichrist New World Order regime to which the Merovingian branched Crown of England is committed. This attempt will fail. In this saga you may see an action of the Holy Roman Empire secretly or openly blessed by Pope Francis as ruled by the Habsburgs in alliance with Islamic and Communist regimes backed by less known terrorist groups (including the US shadow government) mandated to stop true Israel from returning to the land of their forefathers in Israel. This will fail according to biblical prophecy saying "YHWH will have the people of Israel return from the far reaches of the west who have forgotten who they are and come again to the land of their forefathers in the last days."
