

Stetson with Demonic Music: Dream

The Dream

In the early morning of the 14th of November, I had a dream where I found myself as the principal of a very large high school of perhaps 10,000 students. It was in the late afternoon or early evening during a festivity time when bands were playing, a market was being run by the students and games of all kinds were occurring. It was a festival day at the school for students, parents and friends. We even had a scrimmage foot ball game going on. I was just given the job as the principal and since the campus was so big, I was riding on a small 1970's vintage sting-ray bicycle with banana seat around campus to assure all was occurring without any problems.

I then heard over the school intercom that could be heard any place on campus a very devilish rock music. It was from a band that was known for their satanic worship and the music caused the whole spirit of the event to take on a very dark nature. Fights were breaking out, people were arguing and very few seemed to be enjoying themselves. I immediately called the office where the music was being played over the intercom and Stetson answered the phone. I asked, "Are you playing this music?" He said, "Yes." I then told him to "Turn it off and get out of the office!"

I paused holding the cell phone waiting for the music to stop but it did not stop. In fact, it was being played louder than before. I then said over the phone, "Stetson, this music is demonic and causing a bad spirit to come over the whole school. Turn it off now!" Stetson then said, "Its good music" then the line then went dead. The music did not stop so I rode the bike to the office and found it empty and the music CD player still going and turned it off myself. I looked around but could not find Stetson. Stetson had apparently left the building and could not be found anywhere on campus for the rest of the evening. The dream then ended.

Interpretation

The idea that there is a pure demonic music is an ancient understanding. The Greeks and others required musicians to be licensed in acknowledging the power of music as affecting spirit, mind, emotions and body. Excessive dissonance works against the human DNA and ability to think clearly. Rhythm that is contrary to the beat of the heart is destructive and weakens the body to resist foreign pathogens. Such music also open one up to demons and and other parasitical spirits. When this kind of music is further played in the worship of Satan, it carries with it the dark power to oppress and possess all who give themselves to this music with abandonment. This was the kind of music I heard in this dream.

The young man in this dream is revealed as rebellious against authority in not turning off the music when told to by one in obvious authority. He was also evasive in escaping direct confrontation. He is a latent volcano of anger, hate and rebellion that awaits the right conditions to erupt and spew his venom on all who are near. This son of man although claiming to be Christian has been hijacked by Satan and should never be allowed to be in any form of ministry – especially to youth. May the Lord Y'Shua protect us from such deception.
