

Chaldean Mission

by David Michael

Time to Act

I awoke in the night of the 29th of May 2019 and was reminded by YHWH of his commission for me in hearing these words of a dream of November 22nd 2015 I have titled 'Prince of the Dunes' in the Prophets book 2 in which I was told by an angel;

“Windwalker... Prince of the Ephrati... Priest of the Chaldeans... Prophet of YHWH.”

For years I have not been able to place these words in any real world context nor have I pursued this mission in any real way. But this night, now some 4 years later, I am impressed that it is time to do something. I apologize if this paper appears to be self-promoting. I really wrote this for myself to come to terms with my many personal dreams and prophecies.

Conflicting Allegiances

I have been torn in my past ordinations and service with the Vatican, the Syro-Chaldean church, the Episcopal Communion and the American Orthodox where I have served as deacon, priest, bishop and Abbot. I have been the Abbot General of the Culdee since 1993 refounded within the Anglican Communion that has renewed Antiochian (Syro-Chaldean) Apostolic line since the 19th century centered in Iona, Scotland. This means the current priesthood of the Culdee is most recently validated by the Assyrian church based in Antioch that also historically claims the See of Jerusalem. This is a claim not biblically validated since the See of Jerusalem can only be filled by a man of the bloodline of the royal house of King David and more importantly the royal house of Joseph (Jesus step father).

Truth in the Definitions

The key terms I am needing to understand are Jerusalem, the Ephrati, Chaldean, Windwalker and Prophet of YHWH which is a Melchizedek. These terms will benefit with some defining to see how they interconnect.

1. Ephrati: The Ephrati is the the leading tribe of Ephraim, son of Joseph who's grandfather Jacob aka Israel prophesied would become the leader and protector of all Israel. To be a prince of the Ephrati is to be a leader among the 12 tribes of Israel as they return to the land of Israel and occupy Israel in the end times. The use of the term Prince in this context I cannot confirm from family records. All I have found paternally is my family Crusader crest circa 12th century that is a unicorn with crown over neck (same as Scottish) and was the same crest used by the Moravian Princes who claim Jewish descent from the house of King David in Septimania.
2. Chaldean: The Hebrew word for Chaldea is Kasdim or Mat Kaldi who were a nomadic people of Semitic origin. One notices this term is very similar to Culdee, an Anglo-Gaelic term used to identify the prophets leading the Celtic Church in Britannia from circa 38-1100 AD. It has been interpreted to mean 'Servants' or 'Friends of God' which also is associated with the Hebrew term Kadeem which has a similar meaning. The Chaldean land area included the lands from which Abraham lived and exiled called Ur of the Chaldeas. Thus, Abraham was a Chaldean so this priesthood includes all of his descendants including genetic Jews, Israelites, Arabs and some Syrians of the Christian, Jewish and Islamic faiths. The center of their kingdom was mainly nestled between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers with the seat of power in the southern portion of the Fertile Crescent near where the two rivers pour into the Persian Gulf. During the 11th dynasty of Babylon, the Chaldeans ruled Babylon and its vast land area. They controlled the northern area of the Persian Gulf and its strategic shipping lanes to the oceans to the south. It is believed the three wise men who came to worship baby Jesus were Chaldeans.

3. Jerusalem: Jerusalem is the center of the Kingdom of David, the location of Solomon's Temple and the most sacred location for the worship of YHWH. It was the original city-state or principality of the priest-king Melchizedek who was none other than Shem, the eldest son of Noah and now Priest-King of the whole earth as Adams heir. Melchizedek is a title and not a proper name and means King of Righteousness. It is a contraction of the names Michael and Zadok which more literally means "a priest... who is like God." The Melchizedek priest-kings always rule from Jerusalem, the most sacred place in all the earth.
4. Windwalker: This was a name I was called by the Angels of YHWH during one encounter. It suggests one who is lead or walks upon (or is carried by) the wind or Spirit of YHWH.
5. Prophet: One who hears God and speaks his words to God's people. Notable prophets included Enoch, Shem, Abraham, Moses, David, Samuel, Elijah, Daniel, John the Baptizer and John the Apostle. A true prophet is personally called into the Order of Melchizedek by its High Priest Jesus or Yahshua. It is an ordination by the Son of God (YHWH) and cannot be given by man.

The Land of Jurisdiction

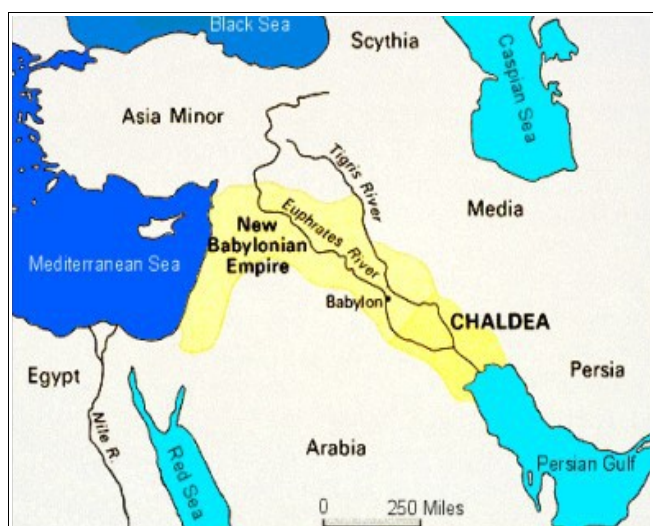

What I find important here is the land area that was promised to Abraham includes the lands of the Chaldeans from which Abraham descended. The land promised to Abraham by YHWH included all the land between the Euphrates to the Nile river in Egypt and from the high mountains in the North to the sea in the South. This included the ancient lands of the Chaldeans.

Of particular interest to me is the land area surrounding the Persian Gulf and the two rivers, Tigris and Euphrates, extending north into the Fertile Crescent and its peoples. Today this primarily includes the countries of Iraq, Lebanon, Syria, Western Jordan, and Israel.

In another dream, I discovered the location of Eden at the northern end of the Persian Gulf under water and the location of the Abyss in the Euphrates that now flows beneath the Persian Gulf after oceans rose and it was flooded some 5,000-10,000 years ago. Enoch says destructive fallen angels would be released in the last days from this Abyss. I know exactly where it is located. There needs to be a sentinel-prophet located at this location (on a boat) to monitor the 'door' of the Abyss.

Persian Gulf

Since the land of my priestly calling is Chaldea, it makes sense that it can or even should be based in the Persian Gulf as a displaced (in exile) water based principality with boats and ships located in the Persian Gulf housing its 'nomadic' peoples. This would include the return of the 10 tribes of Israel when it occurs. It is also significant that I was first ordained as Syro-Chaldean within a Personal Prelature of Pope John Paul II in 1985 and later became an Orthodox Bishop with Syro-Chaldean lines from Antioch in 2000. It was within this Papal Syro-Chaldean jurisdiction that I was granted the document with Apostolic seals to establishment the Order of the Gateway that was tasked to protect Jerusalem.

I was not called a bishop but a priest in this dream. Keep in mind that Roman and Orthodox Canon says, deacons, 'priests' and bishops are all priests simply with different tasks within the church. What comes to mind is the lost history of Prester John who was reported to be a priest-king of some Eastern province and extremely wealthy. His polity seems to pattern the Melchizedek model of Shem as priest-king in Salem aka Jerusalem.

Church Name

Since the Celtic Culdee church in Ireland, Wales, Cornwall, Britannia and Scotland is a daughter church of the Abrahamic Chaldeans, it makes sense to choose a related name for the purpose of identification. I was not called a Priest of the Culdee or of Rome or any other rite in the dream but only a 'Priest of the Chaldeans'.

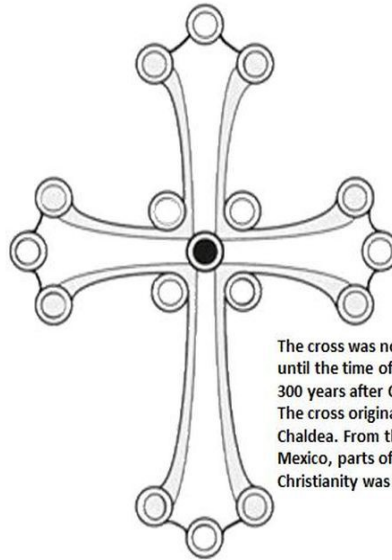

Since Abraham seems to be the key uniting figure in the world for Jews, Christians and Muslims, it may be expedient to revert back to this seminal point in history in seeking to unify the descendants of Abraham under the common banner of the original Chaldeans.

So the terms Chaldean and Abraham should be included in a name. The word church may not be acceptable with Muslims who call their places of worship a mosque or community center. It may be necessary to create a legal entity that could be called one of the following.

1. The Chaldean Church of Abraham
2. The Chaldean Sons of Abraham
3. The Chaldean Patriarchate of Abraham (my favorite)
4. The Abraham Church of Chaldea
5. The Chaldean Fellowship of Abraham
6. The Chaldean-Celtic Church
7. The Chaldean Church of Jerusalem
8. The Unified Chaldean Fellowship

Templar Mission

A very recent piece of this puzzle builds upon my Templar family heritage from which my fathers have been knights and Templar masters since the 3rd Crusade in the 12th century. With my recent association with a UN connected Templar organization that works extensively in the Middle East, this flotilla of Chaldeans if located in the Persian Gulf may be politically possible. It could start with just one small craft of about 50-120 feet in length as a base. It could and would reach out to Jews, Christians and Muslims (read later about the Nestorians) in the call to unity under the one God and

The cross was not widely used in mainstream Christianity until the time of the Roman emperor Constantine—about 300 years after Christ established His Church. The cross originated among the ancient Babylonians of Chaldea. From there, it spread to ancient China, India, Mexico, parts of Africa and other places, centuries before Christianity was born.

Creator of all things. Such a ministry would represent the Christian-Jewish Prophets and the Muslim Mahdi in this mission of unity to work for peace in the Middle East.

Yazidi

It should be noted the Yazidi people who are the current focus project of the UN Templar IGO also claim to be the children of Abraham. If this is true, they are historic Chaldeans and would readily be accepted into this group if they wanted to be associated. This unity of Jews (Nazara Judeans), Christians and Muslims would be based on the Covenant of Omar with the terms of the covenant as follows. However, the Zionist Jews today would likely not be sought for in this unity as they are not genetic Jews (of Judah) but gentile converts circa the 8th century originating from the Khazar Empire. This Islamic covenant was never given to them nor do they have any historic claim to the lands in Palestine.

The Covenant of Omar

In the Name of Allah, the Most Merciful, the Most Compassionate. This is an assurance of peace and protection given by the servant of Allah Omar, Commander of the Believers to the people of Ilia' (Jerusalem). He gave them an assurance of protection for their lives, property, church and crosses as well as the sick and healthy and all its religious community.

Their churches shall not be occupied, demolished nor taken away wholly or in part. None of their crosses nor property shall be seized. They shall not be coerced in their religion nor shall any of them be injured. None of the Jews shall reside with them in Ilia'.

The people of Ilia shall pay Jizia tax [head tax on free non-Muslims living under Muslim rule] as inhabitants of cities do. They shall evict all Romans and thieves.

He whoever gets out shall be guaranteed safety for his life and property until he reach his safe haven. He whoever stays shall be [also] safe, in which case he shall pay as much tax as the people of Ilia' do. Should any of the people of Ilia wish to move together with his property along with the Romans and to clear out of their churches and crosses, they shall be safe for their lives, churches and crosses, until they have reached then safe haven.

He whoever chooses to stay he may do so and he shall pay as much tax as the people of Ilia' do. He whoever wishes to move along with the Roman, may do so, and whoever wishes to return back home to his kinsfolk, may do so. Nothing shall be taken from them, their crops have been harvested.

To the contents of this convent here are given the Covenant of Allah, the guarantees of His Messenger, the Caliphs and the Believers, provided they [the people of Ilia'] pay their due Jizia tax.

Witnesses hereto are:

Khalid Ibn al-Waleed Amr Ibn al-Ass Abdul-Rahman Ibn'Auf Mu'awiya Ibn abi-Sifian Made and executed in the year 15 AH.

This covenant seems to limit the Covenant of Omar to Christians or genetic Jews who have accepted Yahshua as Messiah as indicted by the repeated mention of crosses and the statement that "None of the Jews shall reside with them in [Jerusalem]." These were the Nazara Jews of the Essene sect of Judaism. This expulsion of the other Jews may be due to the fact that Mohammad was completely rejected by the Jews as a false prophet yet when Mohammad lost a battle in Mecca in 621 and escaped to Medina, he was hidden by the the Chaldean Christians from his pagan enemies who wanted to kill him. Christianity in its original Hebrew form (before 90 AD) is an Essene sect of Judaism and is not a separate religion. It was common within the Jewish Essene sect where believers in Yahshua as Messiah were called the Nazara later translated as the Nazarene sect of Judaism.

Nestorians of the Covenant

It is now understood these Jewish Christians referred to in this Covenant of Omar were only the Nestorian Christians who were later employed within the Islamic Empire to act as interpreters and translate volumes of books written in Hebrew, Greek and Latin into Arabic. This is the case since Romanized Jews and Gentiles were also expelled from Jerusalem in this Covenant. It was from the Nestorian priest translators where the Arabs got their many books on literature, medicine and science that were discovered during the Crusades and brought back to Europe.

These same Nestorian believers were rejected by the Roman and Orthodox church in the Council of Ephesus in 450 AD because they would not make Jesus equal with God in viewing differently the Nicaea confession of the Trinity nor would they call Mary the Mother of God (Theo Tokos) making her equal with God but only the mother of Christ (Christo Tokos). This Nestorian Christian confession is more compatible with the Islamic belief that there is only one God and not three.

The Nestorians developed from the Christian Jews in Antioch 33-70 AD and in the early years (prior to 426 AD) were championed by Bishop Nestorius in their theology as the continuing Hebrew Church of Jerusalem forced into exile before Hellenism took over the region. The early Culdee Church in Britain was the sister church of the Nestorians holding to this same confession. They continued to hold to a tribal Patriarchal-Prophet led system and never embraced the Roman Ecclesiastical polity of bishops for governance. The Naza followed the Teachings of the Apostles of Jerusalem also known as the Didache circa 50 AD and not the Pauline theology.

The Nestorians were and are also called the Assyrian Church, Persian Church or the Syro-Chaldean Church associated with Jerusalem and then Antioch. This sect of messianic Judaism conflicted from the beginning with Hellenized Christianity promoted by Paul and others.

One symbol commonly used by the Chaldeans who still follow Hebrew customs is the 14th Arabic/Aramaic letter N “noon” that stands for the Essene Nazara or Nazarene sect of Judaism. This symbol is not offensive to most Muslims but has become the mark of exile or death with ISIS who violate the tenets of the Covenant of Omar and in effect, have left the faith and become Islamic heretics.

It should be clarified that to become a true Nazara may only occur when a person fully embraces the original Nestorian or Chaldean faith and practice (and priesthood). I believe this is one of the discoveries made by the Templars on the Temple Mount during their time in Jerusalem. They became Nazara believers and in time fell into disfavor with Rome and were persecuted and burned at the stake as heretics with properties seized.

Only this sect of Christianity may be considered as protected under this Islamic Covenant.

In conclusion, if one seeks to recommend a model of Christianity that can live in peace with Islam, it must be a Nestorian faith (Hebrew-Christian) with later adulterated Hellenist and Latin (Roman/Constantine) Nicaean and Chalcedon influences removed.
