

Phoenix Monument in New York

by David Michael

In the early morning of 29th of June 2019, I had two dreams. I had one first then I awoke did some writing, fell asleep again then more of the same dream to follow. Upon awakening from the first dream, I thought about the dream and could no make any sense of it. The second dream brought some clarity but more questions.

The Phoenix Monument

I was living in NY city somewhere downtown – perhaps not far from the UN building. The building I saw was built by unknown people who as discovered later in the 2nd dream were globalist billionaires. The building was built in Babylonian style like those found in Iraq with massive stone faces, virtually no windows and carvings on the stone outer walls. It was very tall – perhaps 20 stories but not a sky scraper. Now that I think of it, the building was the shape of a bird standing with the tower as its neck but in cubic style with the body as the larger part of the building with offices.

The carvings were many and very modern in style almost like company logos. I only remember one as half a Phoenix bird in flight (right side of bird) fused with what I remember as a monogram like an 'L'. The phoenix may have likely been a double headed phoenix with the left side obscured by the L. The letter L represents 1000 in Latin and sometimes means 'the many'. I have never seen this symbol before that I have provided to the right as best I remember. It may be the overt or hidden logo of the builders of this monument as 1000 companies or families.

Home, Fortress or Squatter?

I was told it was built for me to live in. I was given a key to the building where I seemed to live alone – at least I saw no one else. I do not know who made this contact with me in providing the key. However, my place of preferred residence was on the top of the building as if I was a bird where I lived in a 'nest' on the very top of the building that was only big enough for a bed with no roof or walls. I would sleep there in the nest and remember rolling over in the dream and then begin to fall out of the nest but catch myself from falling or grab onto the outer walls and just climb down the outside of the building.

Although I had a key to the building, I do not remember ever going in through the front door or leaving through the door. I was never in the building, only on top of the building like a nested bird. I may have been given the key but never seemed to use it. I apparently had some other way to get to the top of the building.

My Search

One day I walked along the water areas of NY. It was as though I was looking for someone or something. I don't know who or what? I did meet someone in the dream, perhaps a woman, but do not remember the conversation. My sense it was about the things that would befall the world in the months to come. I may remember it later in more detail.

Being Investigated

In the 2nd followup dream, I was met by a NY police detective on the street. She said I was being investigated. They wanted to know who I was and where that building came from and if I owned it. Apparently they associated me with the building. I told her I just live there and it is not mine and I don't know who owns it. My initial thought was I was being investigated for tax fraud on the building but the conversation turned out to seek to identify the owners of the building. Apparently this building was not listed with any city records – it just appeared in an older part of town where two streets converged so it was on the street on three sides with an empty lot behind.

The building was a modern monument representing something very ancient. I knew this just by looking at it. Why was I treated like a phoenix in this dream and lived like a bird in a nest on the pinnacle of this precarious roof? I could not fly in this dream? Who were the owners? Why was it located in downtown NY? Why was I living like a phoenix bird on the roof?

Awakened Thoughts

As I awakened but still dreamy, I remembered by sister saying we have an extremely high percentage of Neanderthal DNA. I thought.... “Ah.... duh.... does this make us more dumber than others?” I then did a bit of research. It is now proven the Neanderthal race was not less intelligent than homo-sapiens but their demise was likely due to inbreeding in small groups, bad diet choice and being overrun by mass numbers of homo-sapiens and absorbed by them through mating. They actually had a larger brain capacity and lung capacity than the later smaller homo-sapiens.

Bilderberg and the Phoenix

So... yet another dream out of the aether that leaves one to wonder at the future. The only clue is the Phoenix and L logo and the long association with the phoenix by the Bilderberg Group. The Bilderberg group now has 1000 top families with most if this group being billionaires that date back 800 years in Italy. They originate from the then called Black Nobility because they were said to have have no conscience and were only motivated by the claim of power. These top 1000 richest noble families are called the 'Incunabola' and they guide the rest of the group based on their standing in the Group based on their acclaimed percentage of Nephilim (demigod) bloodline.

According to research by Paul McGuire, the Phoenix is a major symbol of the New World Order, aka the Illuminati, adhering to the motto, “Ordo Av Chao” which means Order out of Chaos. The Phoenix fell into chaos in the flames and then arose or reincarnated as a new bird for a new life. This is the iconic symbol of the NWO and the Bilderberg group that dates back to prehistoric man with the phoenix icon used in Sumer (Anunnaki), Babylon (Nimrod) and Phoenicia.
